Dedication

In order to pay tribute to his cheerful presence and untiring desire to improve our school, We, the Senior Class of 1958, dedicate this, the sixth volume of The Lion, to our new supervising principal, Mr. Daniel B. Knauer.

History of Chestnut Ridge Jointure

The Chestnut Ridge Joint School System is comprised of nine school boards. They are East St. Clair Township, Juniata Township, King Township, Napier Township, New Paris Borough, Pleasantville Borough, Schellsburg Borough, St. Clairsville Borough, and West St. Clair Township. In April of 1952, the members of the nine boards began a program of study to determine how they might provide better educational opportunities for the youth of this area. The educational needs and the financial ability of the districts to provide such needs were studied carefully. Visits were made to areas which had undertaken similar programs for the purpose of making sure that the facilities that were hoped to be provided for the youth of the area would be equal to those of other communities. The features of the contract were developed and on June 10, 1952, a joint contract was signed by the member school boards.

After careful consideration, the joint board concluded that the establishment of a high school was necessary for the jointure. Architects were selected, and plans, made for the construction of the new high school, were finally approved by the Officials of the Department of Public Instruction.

On November 20, 1952, a site for the new high school was chosen; test holes were made there in June, 1953; wells were dug in July; bids were opened in July; on November 24, 1953, the Ground Breaking Ceremony took place; and the excavation work began in December with actual construction starting in March of 1954. The building was satisfactorily completed and was made ready for occupancy on August 29, 1955.

THIS IS YOUR LIFE

CLASS OF '58

The curtain rose on our high school career in 1954 when we scurried onto the stage at Schellsburg-Napier High School. That year we managed bit parts here and there, but the only thing that seems to cling to our memories about those days was the "hazing" by upperclassmen, a custom which seems to have passed on with S. N. H. S.

We began our Sophomore year in the vast, newly erected C. R. H. S. After wandering around for a few weeks with compasses and a road map, we finally regained our sense of direction.

As mighty Juniors our premiere performance was "Father of the Bride." We sold letters to bolster our treasury sufficiently for our lavish "Mike Todd" type "Senior Sendoff." Incidentally the gym nearly burst its seams with pride over being decorated for the first Prom held in our new school. This year we also sponsored a Sweethearts' Dance on St. Valentine's Day.

As Seniors—Full fledged stars, top names on the marquee, and all that jazz—we produced the highly dramatic "Kind Lady." Then aided by our sale of Christmas cards, we had a grand 3 day tour of Washington, D. C.

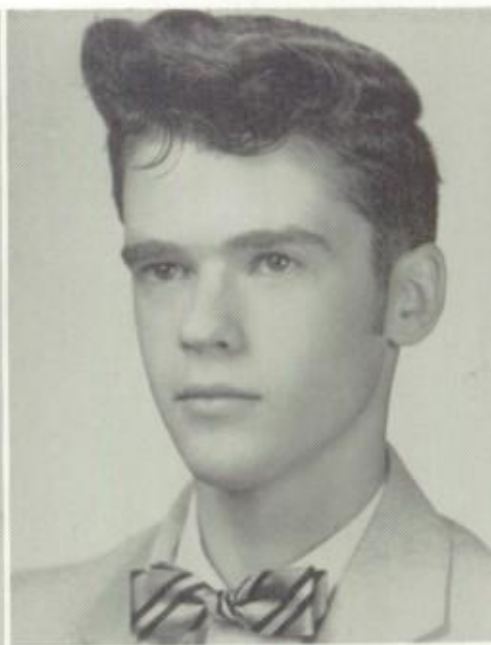

We were also kept quite busy participating in athletics, compiling the paper and yearbook, and, of course, studying Trigonometry and MacBeth.

Although the curtain has come down on the first act of our class history, we all hope that the acts to follow will be as fast moving and entertaining as the one enacted on the C. R. H. S. stage.

WASHINGTON SQUARE

D-Day finally arrived and 81 members of our Senior Class set out for a three day invasion of Washington.

Following a "pause that refreshes" at McConnellsburg, our blue and white buses sped us (we use the term loosely) over the Mason-Dixon line to our first major stop, the magnificent Washington Cathedral. This edifice, a glowing example of Gothic grandeur, has been in construction for nearly a half century and is now over one-half completed.

Next we visited the National Zoological Park. Because the zoo maintains a few empty cages at all times for the purpose of collecting unusual specimens, our chaperons became alarmed and took inventory when we boarded the buses again.

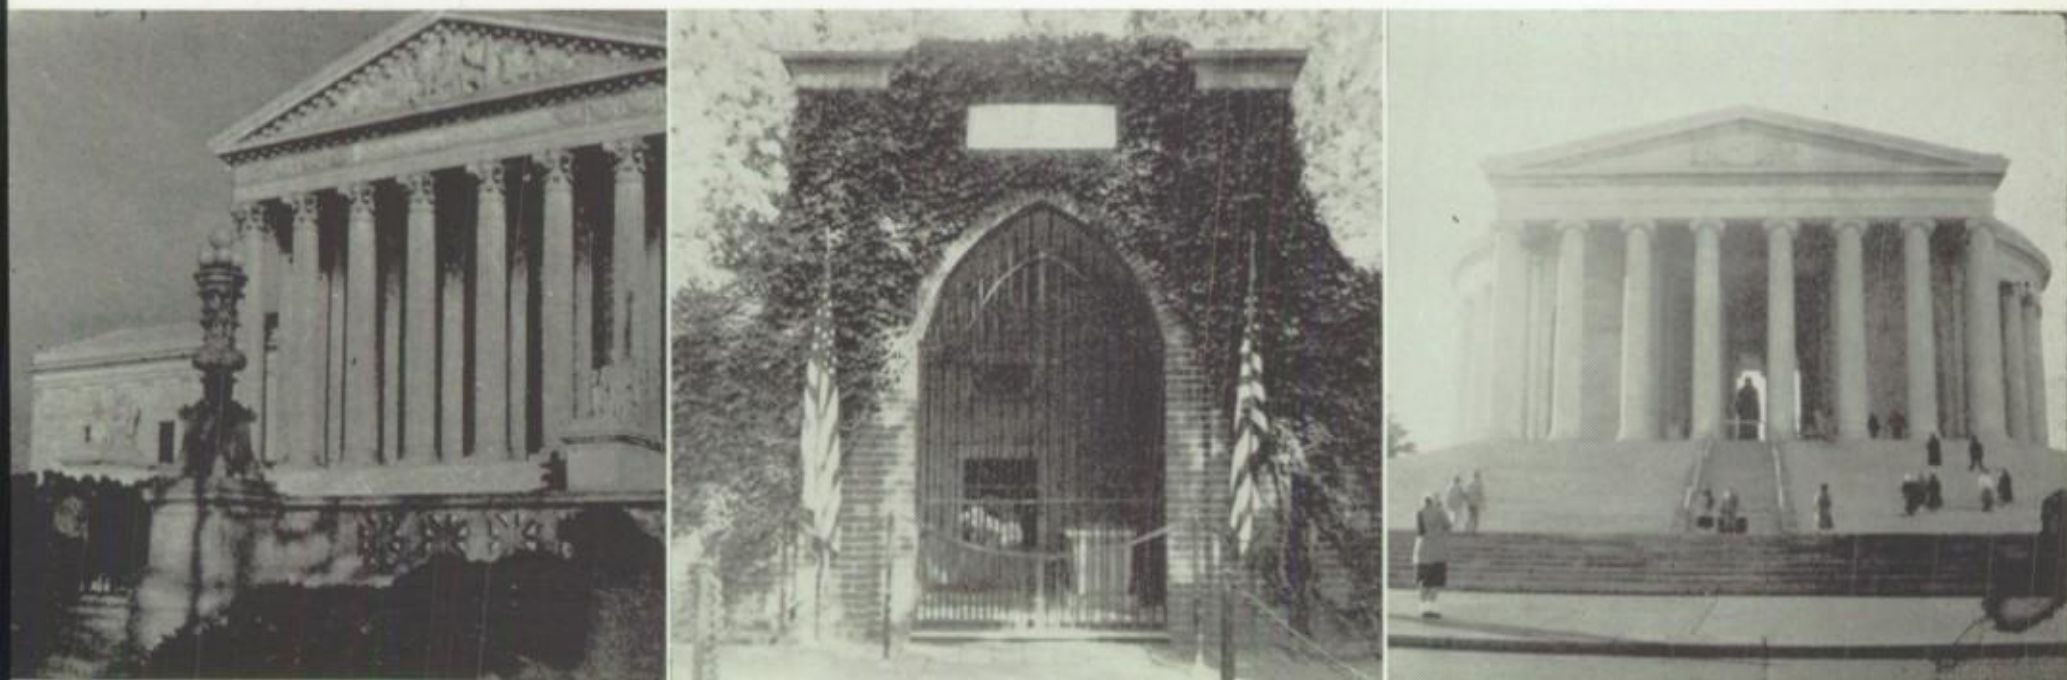

That afternoon we were guided through the impressive Franciscan Monastery by a friar in the conventional garb of the Franciscan Order. This church houses beautiful works of art and numerous reproductions of sacred shrines.

After a few moments rest at our respective hotels . . . Meridian Hill for the girls; 2400 for the boys . . . we trotted blithely off to the American-Chinese Restaurant where we enjoyed a superb dinner, Chinese waiters, and a floor show. The latter featured Cindy and Lindy, a dancing couple, and of course, the traditional Lotus Blossoms. (We're wondering if any of the boys lost their memories. Perhaps they haven't heard the ancient Greek legend of Ulysses and his followers.)

Next we saw Lowell Thomas' "Seven Wonders of the World" which was second only to a storm at sea for making one sea-sick.

Tuesday morning we had a hearty breakfast at Scholl's and set off for another day at sight-seeing. This day we saw such memorable sights as the Lincoln Memorial, Iwo Jima Statue, Arlington Cemetery, Washington Airport, Library of Congress, Supreme Court (in session), and the United States Capitol.

The same day we witnessed a miracle of precision . . . the changing of the guard at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. We were all thoroughly convinced that those guards have built-in-second hands.

Going by way of Arlington, Va., we visited "Mount Vernon," the fully restored estate of George and Martha Washington. With all its special buildings this spacious plantation must have been practically a self-sustaining community in its day.

That evening some of our party went to see the Harlem Globetrotters play; others went swimming, and the less enthusiastic group rested their tired doggies while viewing Elvis in "Jail House Rock." Despite exhaustion, misplaced mattresses, and indigestion (thanks to Caruso's pizza!) some of us managed to catch a few winks that night.

At the unearthly hour of 6 A.M. the following morning some energetic soul roused us from our blissful slumbers. To the tune of fervent regrets that we hadn't consumed gallons of Geritol, we set off for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. By that time we were so exhausted that money by the bales even failed to impress us.

An interesting tour of the F. B. I. revived us in time to visit President Eisenhower's "White House" and the Washington Monument. Our more athletic types climbed its 898 steps and 50 landings.

We spent Wednesday afternoon in the five buildings which comprise the Smithsonian Institute. These are devoted to exhibits of aviation, fine arts, natural history, transportation, science, medicine, industry and United States History.

Before our buses departed, we were treated to an impromptu exhibition of rhythm and blues by two little Negro boys whose natural inclination for tapping and chanting rock-and-roll was readily exchanged for showers of coins.

At approximately 10:30 P.M. Wednesday we reached C. R. H. S., and a wonderful trip, that we won't be apt to forget, ended.

Here is a full salute to our chaperons—Miss Gerber, Mrs. Adams, Mr. Koza, and Mr. Rorabaugh whose help made it a much more memorable and enjoyable occasion.

THE CLASS PROPHECY

New York, N. Y.

May 1, 1983

Dear Diary,

It's so much fun being an M. B. C. talent scout! Today M. B. C. TV executive, SAM BLACKBURN, called me from his plush downtown office to tell me that I was to embark immediately on a world wide search for new TV talent.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

May 2, 1983

Dear Diary,

You'll never guess who was on the same train I took here—GEORGE and MARY CATHERINE (WEYANT) BOWSER and their world-famous circus. In one seat I saw George's star elephant trainers RICHARD HOOVER, GALEN SHAFFER, and ALLEN CLAYCOMB. Seated next to those pachyderm experts were the courageous tightrope walkers, SANDRA FEASTER, NANCY ICKES, and GARY WILLIAMS. Suddenly I gasped in horror. There, standing in the aisle, were five people throwing knives at each other. I discovered, to my relief, that they were merely the famed jugglers, BARBRA HINTON, SALLY McMILLEN, MARJORIE LATSHAW, DEAN HOUSEL, and ROBERT WERNER practicing their renowned knife act. Behind the jugglers sat the three most famous fat ladies in the circus world. I was astounded to learn that they were none other than my old classmates, JANET McCREARY, PEGGY KING, and JEAN FISHER! I chuckled as I saw the four circus clowns—PAUL ALLISON, NEAL BUTERBAUGH, AUGUST DALLA VALLE, and BOB SMITH squirting each other with seltzer bottles. Also on the same train, I learned, were the three Metropolitan Opera singers, EVELYN STEVENSON, MARJORIE COLVIN, and JOYCE DIEHL. Traveling with the opera singers were the beautiful Las Vegas dancers, JANIE BAREFOOT, HAZEL CARSON, BARBARA BOWSER, and CAROL FEATHER. I was so impressed with the talented singers, dancers, and the circus that I signed them all to a long-term M. B. C. contract.

Alamo City, Texas

May 15, 1983

Dear Diary,

My boss is "hep" to Westerns, so here I am, shopping for talent in the Texas Panhandle. I am staying at the famous Bar VXX Ranch of oil millionaire BUD WEAVER and his charming wife, the former ROXIE WESTOVER. Yesterday I paid a visit to Bud's neighbors, ELSIE (NEATROUR) CASSIDY and CAROL (MOCK) AUTRY, who both hope to enter a winner in the Kentucky Derby this year. While I was at the Autry's spread, I saw a group of handsome cowboys, JERRY BOWSER, KENNETH DAVIS, and MAURICE FISHER rounding up the little doggies. RICHARD McCOY was seated on top of a nearby corral fence happily singing "Home On the Range" and strumming on his western guitar. Naturally I gave these handsome cowboys and their horses a contract on the spot.

Seville, Spain

June 1, 1983

Dear Diary,

Today I took a vacation from my exhausting talent search and attended an exciting, colorful bull fight. The fearless matadors, ARLENE VAUGHN, JENNIE WITT, and DOTTY YANTZ gallantly waved red flags at the enraged bull, while DORA SHOMO expertly threw darts into his hide. I recognized such eminent spectators as DRS. MARY HOLLAND and NANCY KLINE, whose revolutionary mathematical theories are astounding the world; LOWELL BENTON, the celebrated jazz composer and his private secretary, SHIRLEY FELIX; musical comedy star DELORES MILLER and her friends, actresses SALLY BOWSER and DOLLY RIEGEL; ROBERT DULL and ROBERT TRIPLETT, wealthy growers of coniferous dates; my former classmates PATSY KRING and her husband GLENN JONES who had left their Madrid Reducing School long enough to drive to the bull fight.

France,
June 20, 1983

Dear Diary,

On arriving in France, I first spent a few days in Paris where I happened to stumble onto the night club act of two versatile magicians, GENE HILLEGAS and TOM FISHER. Helping these two "Merlins" in their mystical endeavors were their beautiful assistants, PHYLLIS CLAYCOMB and KAY COLVIN. Later that evening more talent appeared in the form of the talented tap dancer, MERNA KNISELY. After I left Paris, I traveled to Monaco where I was graciously granted an audience with Princess Caroline and her husband, Prince RICHARD MILLER. I also visited Monte Carlo and met the world's foremost gambler, GLENN BENCE operating the Roulette Wheel. His accomplices, DONALD HILLEGASS and LEIGHTON TAYLOR kept their eyes glued to the dice. From Monte Carlo I went to the fabulous Riviera. Here I saw BEVERLY DAVIS, FRANCES KAUFFMAN and EUNIECE HICKEY parading up and down the beach in their mink swim suits given to them by their rich French husbands.

Africa,
July 16, 1983

Dear Diary,

I hired JOE CRITCHFIELD'S safari to lead me deep into the African jungle to continue my search for talent. To reach the interior of the jungle we had to cross part of the Sahara Desert. There, in the tropical sun-scorched sands, the natives seemed to be erecting some sort of a strange temple. But no! On closer view it was the three American scientists, LARRY COOPER, BOB ACKER, and LEROY IMLER erecting the new Rorabaugh Scientific Observatory. Not far away, strange cries pierced the air. They turned out to be coming from medical missionaries, VERA HARCLERODE, SHIRLEY SMITH, and JANICE ICKES, who had accidentally sat on a huge cactus plant. Big game hunters KAYE and FAYE GORDON appeared on the scene with a giant leopard they had just captured. As our safari pressed deeper into the jungle, we could hear weird drum beats and chants until at last we came to a clearing. There, clustered around the fire was BONNIE BENTON and her all girl Unga Bunga orchestra: DOROTHY IMLER and FRANCES IMGRUND, the tom-tom players; BARBARA WENDEL and ELIZABETH McCREARY, the bamboo xylophone players; JUDY HOOVER and SHIRLEY FRAZIER, rattling castanets; and DONNA COLVIN, EUDA CLAYCOMB, NANCY DIEHL, and HILDA COLLEGE screeching the eerie jungle chants which we had heard for many miles. I knew that this group would be an immediate hit, so I at once shipped them all off to New York.

Hong Kong, China
August 25, 1983

Dear Diary,

At last, here I am in Hong Kong, after getting lost in Tibet. It was lucky for M. B. C. that the three Yak dealers, DAVID CAMERON, DEAN CLARK, and LLOYD CASTEEL found me before I starved to death in the Himalayas. They and their friends, mountain goat traders, DAVID SHETLER, LLOYD MARTIN, and LEROY SNIVELY, gave me a generous supply of goat milk and yak butter to take back to New York. Before finally reaching Hong Kong, I made a brief stopover in Tokyo where I saw PATRICIA BLACKBURN, PATTY DIEHL, and SYLVA MILLER ride by in rickshaws. There, I also had the pleasure of bumping into LOIS MARTIN and SUSAN CUPPETT, instructors of an international cooking school. Now the end of my fabulous trip is in sight. Any minute RONALD HEIDORN and CYRIL WOLFOPE should be landing their M. B. C. chartered airplane to fly me back to New York. Well, Dear Diary, I, talent scout, PHOEBE CUPPETT will never forget the fun I had looking up the old C. R. H. S. alumni and being surprised by their unusual and varied talents which, pretending to lie dormant during their high school days, have now awakened to bring fame and honor to the members of the Class of 1958.

Guided by the unselfish efforts of Mr. Koza, the yearbook staff spent many hours compiling this volume of the Lion.

When not proofreading or typing furiously, the staff took refuge in various culinary delicacies whipped up by its members.

The staff spent several days at the beginning of the year securing ads. This was both an educational and an enjoyable experience. Later the staff devoted many other days and nights to the tasks of writing, typing, and proofreading.

Creating the yearbook taught the members of the staff valuable lessons in co-operation and gave them welcome experience in journalism.

A. are to encourage young people to cultivate the qualities of character and personality that are essential to a successful teaching career, provide them with current information about the various opportunities in the teaching field, and to acquaint them with the inspiring story of public schools.

Several of our members have had the chance to gain valuable experience and a realization of a teacher's responsibilities by taking over a class during a teacher's absence.

Anyone in the Junior or Senior class who is interested in teaching is urged to join the Future Teachers of America because our meetings provide opportunities to develop abilities in civic leadership and to participate actively in professional and social meetings on the local and state level.

Over 3,000 prints were processed by the club members, the biggest order being that of 150, 7x15 inch prints of the District Chorus, which was delivered in less than 18 hours after the picture was taken. Nearly 34 boys and girls participated in the club work by taking pictures, processing them, and getting orders for prints.

One of the most difficult but interesting jobs to be done by the club was that of producing the visual part of the Vocational Agriculture TV Program, which was seen Saturday morning, March 1, 1958, over WFBG, Channel 10. Approximately 75 prints were used in the program including 16 aerial views which were also taken by club members.

The faculty sponsor is Mr. Pyle, and the student co-managers are Cyril Hoover and James Hoover. Some of the pictures appearing in this volume of the Lion were taken by members of the Press-Photo Club.

The Varsity Club has stood for the highest and best in all phases of athletic achievement at Chestnut Ridge High School, and each member is pledged to give his all in maintaining the high standards of the high school. Sacrificing everything on the field of play in order to carry the school colors to victory, treating the opponents with gentlemanly courtesy, and exemplifying true sportsmanship in all actions, both on and off the athletic field, are requisites of the Varsity Club members.

The club, which is sponsored by Mr. James Norman and Mr. William Norman, held elections in the fall and the following officers were elected:

Our Vocational Agriculture Department became a two-teacher department this year with the arrival of Mr. James Brough. Nearly all schools offering courses in Vocational Agriculture have, in addition to the student's work, an adult program similar to ours here at C.R.H.S.

The Chapter Yorkshire Swine had an excellent year at both the Bedford and Cambria County Fairs, winning the following ribbons: 2 Grand Champions, 2 Senior Champions, 2 Junior Champions, 5 Firsts, 4 Seconds, and 2 Third place ribbons. The above prizes were won by 2 sows, 3 gilts, and 1 boar in competition with other F. F. A. Chapters and adult farmers in the open classes.

Saturday morning, March 1st, 1958, found the boys, as well as many other Chestnut Ridge area residents watching the TV program from WFBG presented by our junior and senior department members. "CONCRETE BLOCKS FOR THE FARM AND FOR THE HOME" was the title for the educational program using the unique medium of tape recordings and still pictures.

The Eighth Annual F. F. A. Father-Son Banquet featured Mr. Daniel B. Knauer, our principal, as the guest speaker. The boys and their guests enjoyed the meal and entertainment provided for this event, the climax to the department's yearly activities.

Chapter officers for the 1957-58 year were: President, George Bowser; Vice President, Tom Shaffer; Treasurer, Chester Smith; Secretary, Glenn Bence; Chaplain, Barry Shaffer; Reporter, Richard Claycomb; Sentinel, Ronald Clark; Advisors, Mr. Pyle and Mr. Brough.

SENIOR PLAY CAST

ROW 1: Bud Weaver, David Cameron, Peggy King.
ROW 2: Patsy Kring, Mr. Stewart, Sally Bowser, Dotty Lou Yantz, Arlene Vaughn, Barbara Hinton, Jennie Witt, Carol Feather, Gary Williams.

"Kind Lady," a sinister drama written by Edward Chodorov and directed by James Stewart, was presented by the Senior Class on December 20, 1957.

When wealthy Londoner Mary Herries sympathetically opened her door to a bedraggled young man, she unwittingly admitted an unscrupulous group of swindlers who proceeded to steal her possessions by making the world believe she had gone out of her mind.

Finally the "Kind Lady" was released from her strange tormentors when she slipped a note to a representative from her bank who had unexpectedly dropped in. Within moments after the representative left, the exciting climax of the play was reached when a loud knock sounded and the swindlers gathered tensely to await the handcuffs of the entering police.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

For a hundred years Green Valley had been owned by the Berry family—ever since Grampa had staked it out in the gold rush days. Now Eldon, the last of the Berry line, was about to lose it to greedy land operator, Tobias J. Everheel.

But suddenly strange and mystifying things began happening in Green Valley. All at once vegetation began to grow into gigantic proportions. Strawberries grew as big as a fist, and sunflowers reached higher than the house. However the most fantastic occurrence of all was the milk from Minnie the cow. Those who drank it heard weird music and were able to see Berrys of long-ago yesteryear, who had been stirred from their eternal rest by Everheel's rampaging tractor.

These people had come back to their beloved Green Valley to fight, to love, and to laugh, until they dramatically faded away on the waters of Everheel's exploded dam.

OFFICE AIDS

STANDING: Sandra Callihan, Violet Carson, Kay Colvin, Sylva Miller, Carol Feather, Janie Barefoot, Fern Crissman.
SEATED: Grace Allison, Secretary.

No doubt, you have probably seen these girls pacing the halls each morning to gather up the absentee slips. This is only one of the duties performed by the office aids. They have willingly given up a study hall to relieve the secretaries of the many important small tasks. Some of these tasks are sorting mail, delivering messages to teachers in a classroom, and delivering the absentee sheets to the rooms.

When the office needs assistance, it can always depend on these girls for support.

STAGE CREW

ROW 1: John Labuda, David Stambaugh.
STANDING: Jim Oldham, George Westover, John Van Scoyoc, Mr. Thomas, Dick McCoy.

One of the most active, yet least noticed, groups at Chestnut Ridge High School is the Stage Crew. We often see the results of their labor but seldom, if ever, see them in person. Yet it is their efforts that insure the success of many of the school programs.

This group of boys from both Junior and Senior High works many hours preparing lights, scenery, properties, platforms, and sound equipment for major events—such as the junior and senior class plays, chorus and band concerts, and elementary music festivals; and for the general activities of the school—such as assembly programs, special P. T. A. programs, and after-game dances in the gyms.

Thus the stage crew has established itself as an important organization in the school.

SAFETY CLUB

ROW 1: Bonnie Moskey, Lois Turner, Dondra Frazier, Patsy Egolf, Carol Fritz, Mr. Pope.

The objective of the Safety Club is to make safety a by-word of everyone in the school and community.

One of the projects undertaken by the Safety Club was a safety presentation for the P. T. A. this past year.

The club is now working on a project which consists of mapping out the routes taken by the school buses in transporting our students to and from school. A large map of the county will be used for this project. The purpose of the project is to make it easy to see what roads are being used to transport students and how many students are being picked up at each stop.

The club is open to all Senior High students who have an interest in safety and feel they would like to be a part of a safety program.

KNEELING: Patsy Kring.

THE INSTRUMENTAL DEPARTMENT

In the past four years the Chestnut Ridge Blue and Gold Band has advanced until it is now one of the finest bands in Bedford County.

Rehearsals were started several weeks before the opening of school in order to prepare for the many football games that were scheduled.

The majorettes worked untiringly to develop unusually entertaining twirling routines. As a result, the band made excellent appearances in their half-time shows.

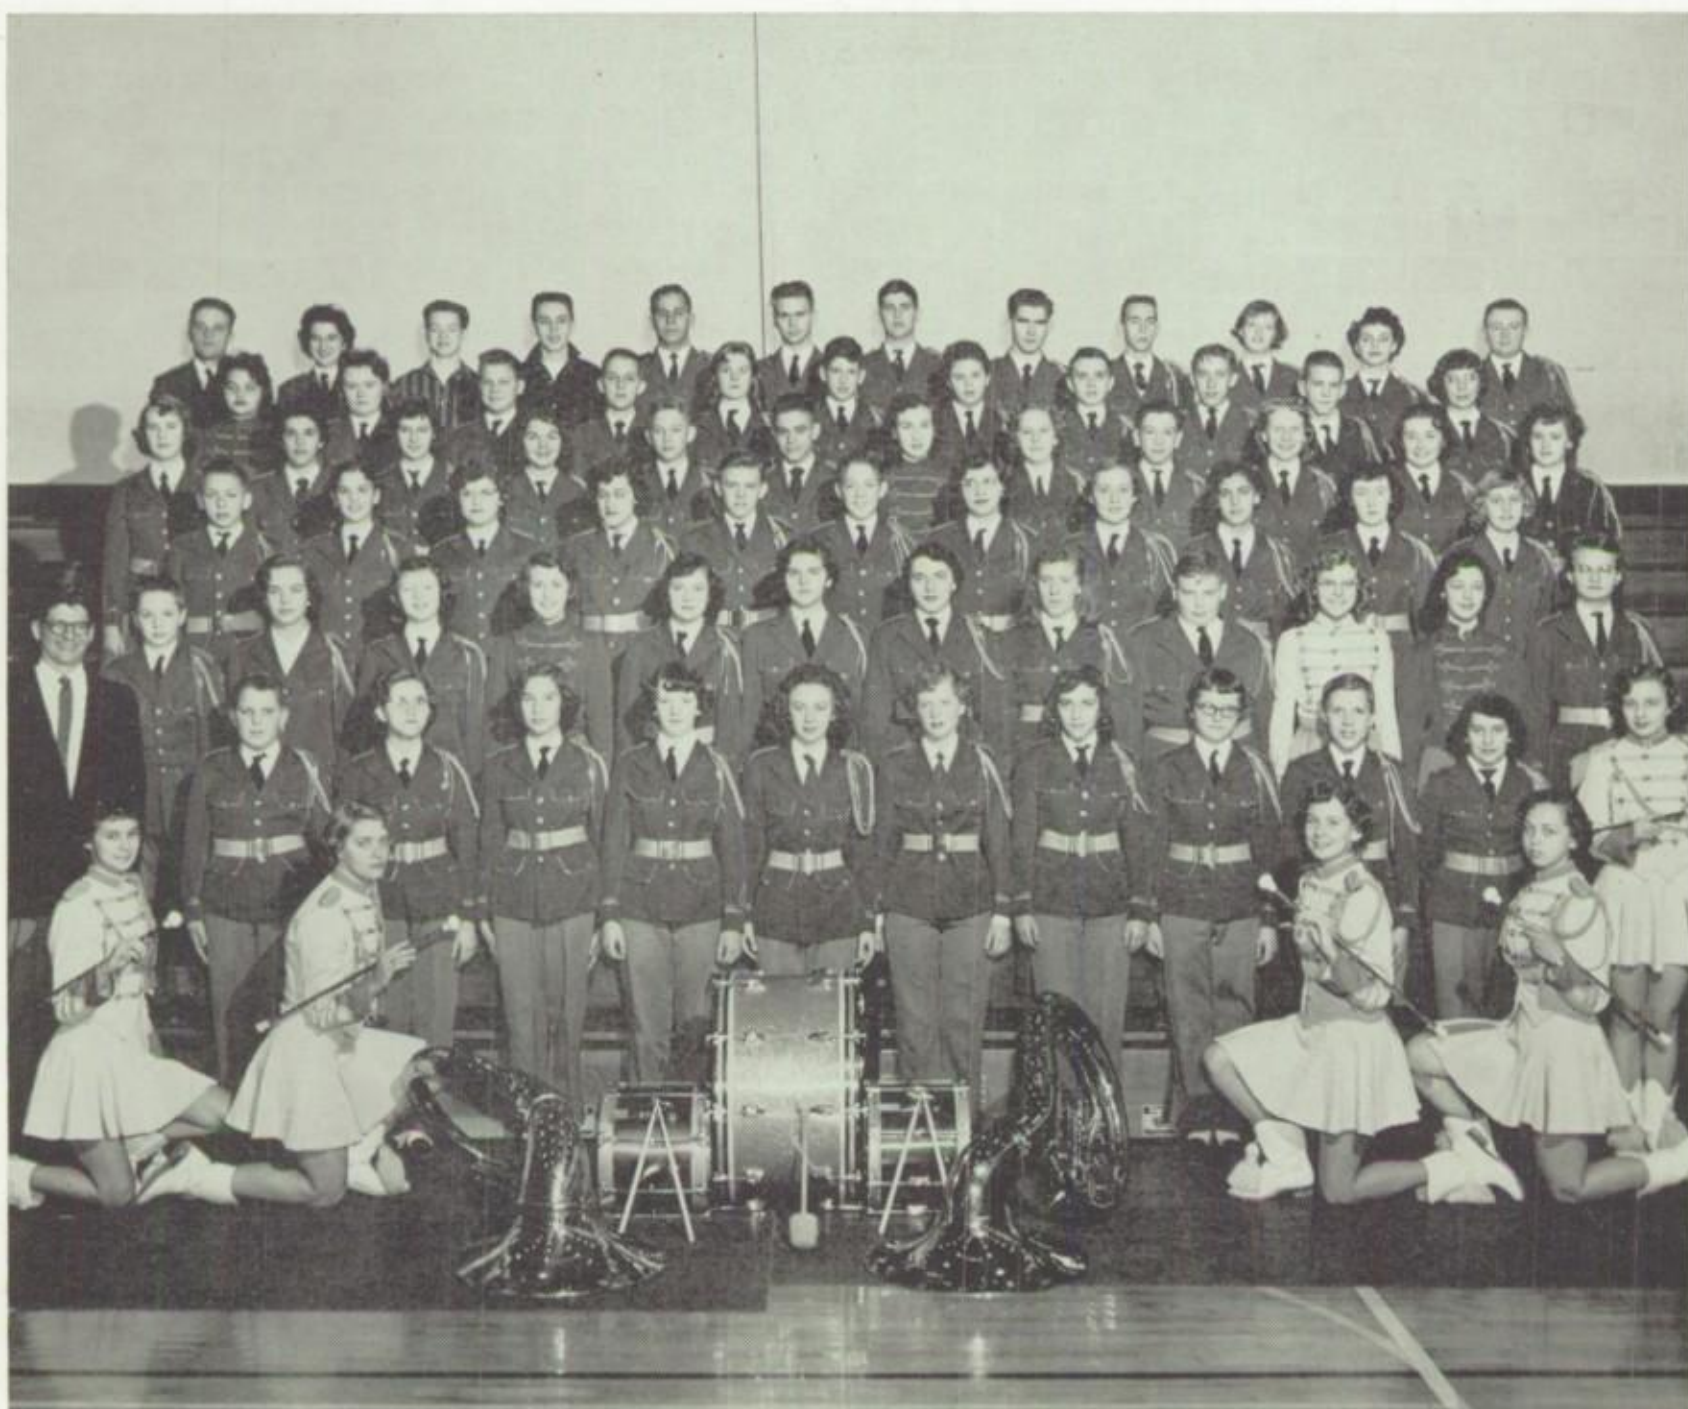

Much preparation also went into the concerts which were presented in March and April.

The Band Parents have helped our band by working very hard to earn money for the much needed uniforms which have already been ordered.

The music department is proud to announce the organization of the Modern Music Masters. It is composed of Senior High members of the music department who have a B average in music and at least a C average in other subjects. The aim of the Tri-M is to make a better band, chorus, and orchestra.

The chief function of the orchestra is to give one annual concert and to take part in the commencement program. It will also accept invitations to appear at various other activities during the year.

To present good vocal music to their listeners is the aim of the high school mixed chorus. The chorus does a great variety of songs, such as religious songs, popular songs, and folk songs. Thus the chorus member usually finds a song to fit his or her mood.

A new vocal organization for this year is the Chapel Choir. It consists of 26 members from the mixed chorus. The purpose of this choir is to provide religious music for various church events. The Chapel Choir appeared at several of the surrounding churches this year.

The mixed chorus gave its annual Christmas program on December 15. There was a concert in the afternoon and one in the evening.

In February, the Central Western District Chorus was held at Chestnut Ridge High School. The district chorus was made up of members from a five-county area. Our chorus was well represented in this event.

Most of the Spring was spent in preparation for our final concert of the year. Through the able direction of Mr. James Stewart, the C. R. H. S. Mixed Chorus had a most success-ful year.

In the third season of football at Chestnut Ridge, the boys compiled a 3-6 record. Victories were accomplished over Southmont, Gallitzin and Berlin.

The season opened at home against Saxton Liberty. After a very thrilling encounter Saxton won the game by a margin of 20-6.

The following week the Lions traveled to Gallitzin. After a hard fought battle the Lions emerged victorious 8 to 0.

Seeking victory number 2 the Lions played inspired football at Blacklick but lost by the margin of 13-7.

Returning to home soil for the next game, the Lions ran into a stumbling block in the form of Northern Bedford. Northern Bedford triumphed 45-13.

Lilly, one of the district powers and undefeated and unscored upon, provided the opposition in the next game. Lilly won the game 9-0.

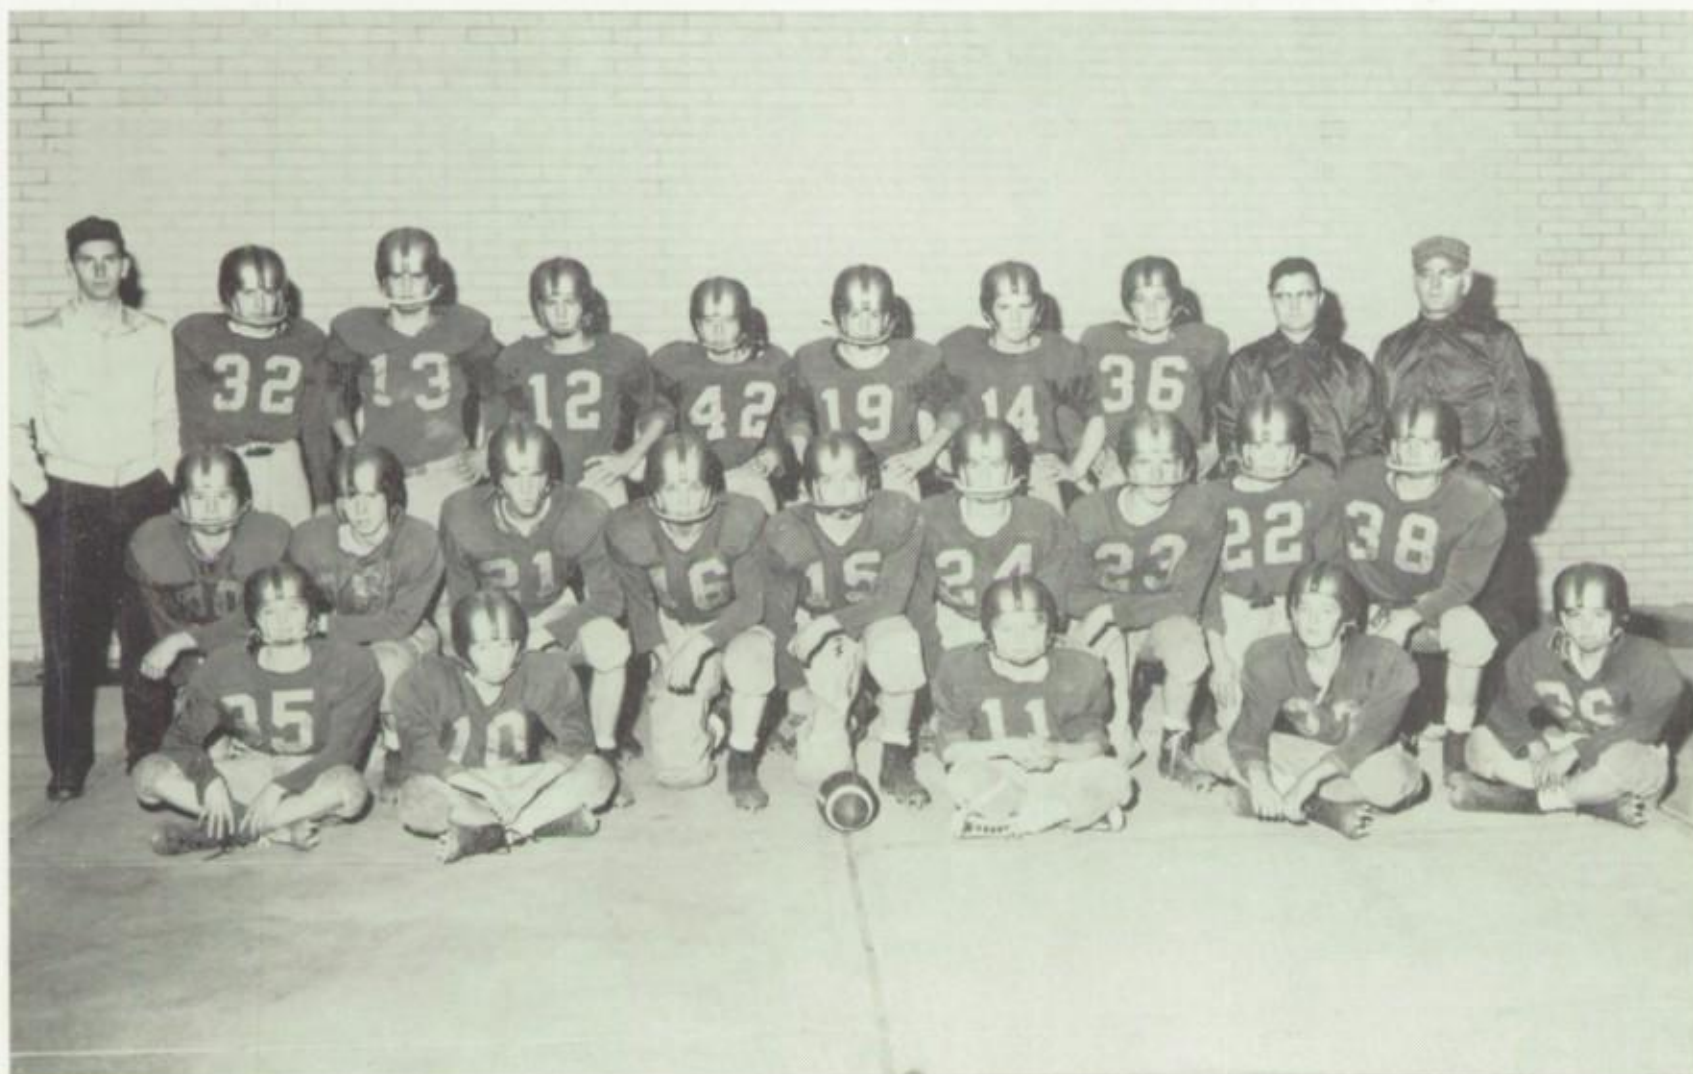

In a very close and exciting game, the Lions were victorious at Southmont 13 to 12.

In their next home game, the Lions met a formidable opponent. Forbes put on a classy passing display and emerged victorious by a 40 to 0 score.

Adverse weather conditions prevailed for the next game. However the Lions were not to be denied as they "out-mudded" Berlin 19-0. In the final game of the season, the Lions traveled to Everett. Everett was triumphant 32 to 19. This game brought down the curtain on another football season.

Under the direction of Wendel Gower and his two assistants, John Koza and Jim Salathe, the Little Lions posted a final record of 6 wins and 1 defeat. The highlight of the schedule was a stunning 14-0 upset victory over a highly rated Hollidaysburg team.

For compiling this fine record the Little Lions were accorded the honor of being the Bedford County Junior High Champions.

TEEN-AGE ROAD-E-O CHAMPION

Joe Critchfield, Senior of Chestnut Ridge has won the Bedford County Teen-Age Road-e-o Championship for the past two years. This honor was not easily won since Joe had to compete against drivers from all the other schools in the county. Against this competition Joe has shown his ability to drive a car.

To win this championship a driver must first take a written examination consisting of the rules of the road, and what to do in driving emergencies. As a second part of the Road-e-o each contestant must drive through a series of six different obstacles. Each obstacle becomes more difficult than the preceding one.

Bob Smith, another Senior, won the Cambria County Teen-age Road-e-o-championship for 1957. This was Bob's first year of competition.
